Resources for Study

Local Lodges and Study Centers

See Local Groups under the Membership heading at www.theosophical.org

Lodges and study centers offer opportunities to interact directly with other Theosophists through group studies, lectures, workshops, and service. To join a local group, you must first belong to the National Society. An officer of the local group must sign this form and send it with your membership dues to the National Secretary. For more information, call 1-800-669-1571, ext 322 or e-mail us at membership@theosophical.org. Consult your local group for its dues information.

National Lodge

See National Lodge under the Membership heading at www.theosophical.org

Regardless of your location, the National Lodge provides an enriched educational experience in Theosophy by a series of self-study courses sent by mail or e-mail on a variety of topics studied concurrently by other members. For more information, call 1-800-669-1571, ext 301 or e-mail us at natsec@theosophical.org. Postal delivery is available for $15 annually.

Free Online Study Courses

See the Online Resources heading at www.theosophical.org

We offer a wide range of educational resources, including self-study courses and online classes.

Henry S. Olcott Memorial Library

See the Library heading at www.theosophical.org

Our superb national library lends books, CD's and DVD's by postal mail (free shipping in the USA one-way), and offers an online library catalog. Contact the library by e-mail at library@theosophical.org or call 1-800-669-1571, ext 304.
